B.C.O.T. AUTO-X

Our last BCOT Auto-x of the season was on Sept. 10th. We were blessed with a lot of sunshine and 70 degree weather and no sign of rain, which seems to be the norm for our BCOT events.

Dennis and I hashed over the course design and proceeded to throw cones somewhat selectively around the parking lot. After fine tuning the gates and corners we were ready for the on coming crowd, which were busy getting registered and geared up for a great day of racing.

We had 19 entrants show up with some new faces from the Bozeman area, such as Tony Hoffman, Glen Novak and Rob Parish which increased the local population of german cars since that they were driving VW Rabbits. Margie Brelje early on put the pressure on Dale Brelje to look for a few extra seconds, which he found later in the day. The german brigade of cars were swapping times all day long. Kurt and Dale were pushing each other for the upper hand in E Prep that added to the competition. Dean ended up beating Bob and Dennis for top time of the day by a small margin of time.

Everyone enjoyed the event expecially the part of the course where you can get some speed built up between the front of the building and back lot.

Thanks for all the help everyone put in on making this another good event to attend.

Dale Dinsmore-event chair

P.S. It did rain and hail while we were eating pizza and bench racing.

GRAND TARGHEE

I couldn't resist Ron Walker's generous offer, so he and I went off to the Grand Targhee Hill climb hosted by the Eastern Idaho Sports Car Club. The scenery was beyond compare, the food was great, the comradie was, as usual, epic and the hill itself was a different kind of challenge. A car with lots of ponies and deep lungs is the key to a quick time on the Targhee hill. 8000 feet of altitude kind of throws the non-assisted breathers for a loop.

The Idaho hosts were plagued with all sorts of teething pains, and the event got off to a slow start, but we did managed to squeeze in a total of five runs each for the weekend.

A few suggestions for those planning to attend next year. Get your dinner tickets early, they have a few available. Bring the family, the place is gorgeous. Acquire forced induction, remember-no air at that altitude. Eat one meal at Mike's in Driggs, trust me on that one-it's well worth it. And don't lift until you see guard rail. Honest.

Dennis McCollough
